Lord Howe Island is widely regarded as the most beautiful island in the Pacific, the closest island getaway to Sydney and a part of New South Wales. At any one time, you'll be one of only 400 visitors on Lord Howe Island. It's less than two hours flying from either Sydney or Brisbane off Australia's east coast. It is one of just four island groups to be inscribed on UNESCO's World Heritage list for the global significance of its natural beauty and heritage.

Lord Howe Island was first discovered by Lieutenant Henry Lidgbird Ball, commander of the First Fleet ship, 'Supply' in 1788, while en route between Sydney Cove and the penal settlement of Norfolk Island. Ball named the uninhabited island after British Admiral Richard Howe and the sea stack to the south he named Balls Pyramid, after himself.

It's a timeless natural paradise, where the pace is relaxed but where there are plenty of activities and adventures to choose from. Unspoiled and uncrowded beaches with perfect golden sands entice surfers, swimmers and sybarites. Families love the safety and variety of kids' activities; lovers find romance in the island's secluded corners, natural beauty, luxury lodges and fine dining establishments. For adventurers, there are bushwalks and more strenuous hikes, including Mt Gower, rated as one of the world's best day walks. And to ease tired muscles, there is a choice of spa treatments.

The crystal lagoon is bordered by the world's most southerly coral reef. Just wander in off the beach to snorkel among colourful tropical and sub-tropical fish, turtles and other marine life, or head further off-shore to SCUBA dive on world-class sites. The water is so clean and clear, it's like swimming in an aquarium. The island is laced with delightful walking trails through palm and banyan forests, emerging at spectacular cliff-top vistas. Lord Howe is also Australia's premier bird watching destination, with over 14 species of seabirds nesting on the island - and most readily seen, including one of the world's rarest birds, the Lord Howe Island Woodhen.

To set foot on Lord Howe Island is to escape to a pristine environment, where you'll be met with friendly hospitality and the kind of holiday experience that you'll never want to leave. A wide range of accommodation styles, sumptuous spa treatments, beautiful hotels and great dining make Lord Howe Island the perfect getaway.
